Notes

Cracking and collapsing on a 31-degree slope near the Lionshead area down south. The slab was 3-4' deep, and the slope was on the verge of being steep enough to avalanche. From the email: " fractured about 20'x10' area initially, maybe 3-4' deep. We got off the hill and it continued to fracture in bigger spots but did not slide more than a foot total."
