

Abiathar

Date

Sun, 03/14/2021 - 17:58

Activity

Snowboarding

Headed out today to try and find access to objective that I've been thinking about lately. Got a late start on a beautiful day. The snow at lower elevations got my hackles up. Rotten, nasty, sugar, little unsupportable crust near top. Wasn't too worrisome but I really didn't like navigating up the creek through a couple of steepish sections around the little cliff bands. I guess I was a little sensitive since I was soloing but I remember feeling that same way out south of Cooke City at lower elevations. Dirty rotten snowpack in places.

No other signs of instabilities. Snowpack got better higher up.

Region

Cooke City

Location (from list)

Abiathar Peak

Observer Name

Jonathan Baker