GNFAC,

Awesome skiing up at Bacon Rind today! Skies cleared mid day and the sun came out, super south facing slopes got a thin sun crust, all other slopes have a nice layer of surface hoar on top. Dug a quick pit on a SE (60) facing slope at 8600'. HS 130-140, ECTX. Found that layer of buried surface hoar down about 8", 20cm of 4f+ 2-4mm facets was also present at the ground.

Thanks!
