

Texas Meadow Night Ski

Date

Thu, 02/22/2024 - 19:00

Activity

Skiing

We skied Texas meadow this evening, and found relative stability. We tested a small hand out which did show the poor snow structures that the rest of the area with a very cohesive top on a sugary base, but we didn't find wumpling or other signs of instability in this zone. Southern aspects did have a strong sun crust on them, while others had great snow. There was also very gusty wind from the south which made temporary whiteouts and could be transporting snow.

Region

Bridger Range

Location (from list)

Texas Meadow