

Many avalanches north of Cooke city

Date

Sat, 03/02/2024 - 14:55

Activity

Skiing

Went out to butter from the yurt with my client today. Around green lake and Zimmer creek nearly everything over 30 degrees slid on the new/old interface. New snow didn't bond well and there is a very touch storm slab. Lots of cr co on everything low angle

Also saw a couple hard slab D2 avalanches. One was skiers left of butter, couldn't quite see the path but took a picture of the run out. The other was in the boulder field of cardiac hill.

Region

Cooke City

Location (from list)

Zimmer Creek

Observer Name

Jake Mundt